

We are excited to invite you to join us for the leading international event for policy makers, practitioners and experts on improving evidence-based evaluation and evidence-based policy making and practice in PVE/CVE, De-Radicalisation and Crime Prevention.

Organized online to enable participation from front line practitioners, experts, academics and policy makers across Europe and internationally, the INDEED International Forum will feature some of the world's leading experts and practitioners in evaluation and the PVE, CVE, De-Radicalisation and Crime Prevention Fields.

Using an innovative 'online summit' format, the Forum will include expert inputs and highly informative and participatory workshops, communities of practice, policy forums and more!

'Save the Date' on your agenda, or reach out to us at forum@indeedproject.eu if you would like to know how your agency, institution or government can become a partner in the INDEED International Forum on Advancing Evidence-Based Practice & Evaluation in PVE/CVE/ De-Radicalisation and Crime Prevention.

About the INDEED International Policy & Practitioners' Forum

The 2-Day INDEED International Forum is being organized to advance the field of evidence-based evaluation and evidence-based policy and practice in PVE/CVE and De-Radicalisation initiatives (programmes, actions, policies, and strategies, and ad-hoc actions).

The Forum will bring together leading international experts, practitioners, law enforcement agencies and civil society organisations, representatives of governments, the European Commission, the United Nations, universities, research institutes and think tanks, and donors to facilitate multi-stakeholder discussions, exchange, learning from best practices in the field, and identifying practical recommendations to improve the use of evidence-based evaluation and evidence-based policy making and practice in the field.

The Design and Experience of the INDEED International Forum

The INDEED International Forum will:

- identify the most important lessons and experiences to help improve evidence-based policy, practice and evidence-based evaluation
- share forefront lessons from the field and from research on evidence-based practice and evaluation
- foster vibrant exchange and dialogue on evidence-based practice and evaluation in the field of PVE / CVE / De-radicalisation and crime prevention
- and bring together key stakeholders from local, national, EU and international organisations to advance – together – the state of policy and practice in the field

The Forum will include key-note presentations, parallel workshops/working sessions organised on key themes and several sub-topics. Partners, Government Agencies, Universities, Law Enforcement Agencies, Organisations and Academics are invited to contribute through organizing sessions, workshops and presentations on the work they are doing in the field.

The Forum will be the largest event of its kind to-date bringing together experts from Europe and internationally to share best practices, lessons and experiences to advance the field of evidence-based evaluation in PVE/CVE/De-Radicalisation and Crime Prevention initiatives.

Organize a Panel, Presentation or Workshop at the INDEED Forum

If you are a practitioner, policy maker or expert in the field, or come from an organisation, government, institute or international inter-governmental organisation or donor and are interested in organizing a session during the Forum, or if you would like to become an organizing partner, please write to the INDEED International Forum Secretariat at forum@indeedproject.eu.

How you can take part: Participants, Partners & Contributors

Participants – including first line practitioners, governments, NGOs, academics and universities, experts, community-based organisations, policy makers, EC and UN officials, donor institutions and more – may participate either as individuals or as organisations/IGOs, governments or agencies.

We also welcome proposals to organize workshops, panel presentations, case studies, innovation sessions and more. The aim of the Forum is to provide a front-of-field, highly enriching, and practical opportunity to feature leading innovations, lessons learned, and recommendations for improving evidence-based evaluation, policy and practice in the P/CVE, De-Radicalisation and Crime Prevention fields.

To this end, the Forum Secretariat will actively reach out to and invite contributions from leading experts and partners around the world. At the same time, we also invite you to submit proposals for sessions, workshops, case study presentations and more. An online form will be created shortly, but in the meantime, if you have proposals for sessions you can reach out to the INDEED International Forum Secretariat directly at: forum@indeedproject.eu
